GLAM Summer Lacrosse Camp

Our mission is to inspire, promote and educate girls in the skills, sportsmanship and love of lacrosse!

Why GLAM?

The Girl's Lacrosse Association of Michigan (GLAM) is a non-profit organization established to give girls an opportunity to experience, learn and play the game of lacrosse in a fun, healthy and safe environment. Girls will learn the fundamental skills, rules and fitness needed to play the game of women's lacrosse. They will also hone life skills such as commitment to team, sportsmanship, exercising leadership, setting goals and developing friendships.

Coaching Staff

Mackenzie Lawler: Mackenzie graduated from Okemos High School in 2010. She was a four time All-State Selection, two time Academic All American, and named an All American her senior year. While at Okemos, she won back to back state titles in 2009 and 2010 with a record of 54-0. Mackenzie currently plays Division I lacrosse at Robert Morris University in Pittsburgh.

Andi Raymond: Andi graduated from Rockford High School in 2010. She was a two-time US Lacrosse All-American and three-time All-State selection; Andi led Rockford to a state title in 2010 and holds all of Rockford's records for points, goals, assists, ground balls and caused turnovers. Andi currently plays Division I lacrosse at Towson University in Baltimore.

Camp Emphasis

Along with using GLAM's beliefs, the coaching staff will bring back drills and technique used at the collegiate level. Through the week, players will learn stick skills, shooting, dodging, defensive technique, and team concepts. The camp will have a middle school and high school session in order to focus on specific skills for certain levels. The goal is to increase players' knowledge and skill of the game by sharing the coaching staff's lacrosse experiences both in high school and in college.
